RE: Accessing Justice, May 9 to 11, 2018, The University of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada

To whom it may concern:

Preparations are well underway at the Centre for Interdisciplinary Justice Studies (CIJS) at The University of Winnipeg for our annual spring conference. This year, the theme is Accessing Justice: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Access, Justice, Law, and Order. This annual event brings together scholars of law, crime and society from across North America and indeed from around the world.

I am pleased to invite Dr. Courtney Waid-Lindberg and Dr. Kristi Brownfield to participate in a special session on justice in media and popular culture. I have had the pleasure of working with Dr. Waid-Lindberg for some years now and I was very fortunate to collaborate with Dr. Brownfield last year on a special session at the American Society of Criminology (ASC) Annual Meeting. I very much look forward to further collaboration with these scholars and to hearing about their important work at our conference this spring.

If you require any further information about the conference or the Department of Criminal Justice at the University of Winnipeg, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Dr. Steven Kohm
